On behalf of the 92nd Street Y, I want to thank you for bringing “Heroes” to our stage.

The performance was not only informative and enlightening, but transformative -- every person in the audience felt their hearts expanded and lives enriched by having seen it tonight.

The entire production was first rate – the musicians, the visual elements, and of course, Gilad's beautiful voice, echoing in more ways than one, the many voices of Jewish heroism through the ages.

What sets Project Heroes apart is its extraordinary fusion of music and storytelling, creating an emotionally resonant experience that touches the heart of every audience member.

Gilad's masterful integration of original music with personal narratives transformed these stories into something truly transcendent.
